My dear Sir,

I beg to apologize for troubling you again respecting my affairs; but as you may suppose I am naturally anxious to know if the time has arrived for presenting the Memorials.

I also wish to consult you on another subject. My son John is a good painter, and as a copyist is admirable. Do you think that in England he could find purchasers for copies of the first masters? You are aware that the Museo de Madrid is the first in Europe. Artists in Spain have little chance of success, unless they are fortunate enough to meet with foreign purchasers.

I received the Gentleman's Magazine for which I return you my warmest thanks.

With our best wishes for the health and happiness of yourself and family, believe me to remain

Dear Sir

Yours very sincerely

Fanny Kemble de Sumner
